

Opening Talk of NSM2006

A BRIEF HISTORY OF THE WORLD (OF NONSTANDARD ANALYSIS)

PETER LOEB

The talk will start with some history of the use of infinitesimals in mathematics and the discovery of how to make that use correct. It will continue with some discussion of the foundations of Robinson's discovery and some recent applications in measure theory and functional analysis.

DEPARTMENT OF MATHEMATICS, UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS, URBANA, USA
E-mail address: loeb@math.uiuc.edu